

An Garda Síochána Annual Report 2013

The mission of An Garda Síochána is working with Communities to Protect and Serve

Foreword

I am pleased to present the 2013 Annual Report of An Garda Síochána that details the work carried out by the organisation across all divisions nationwide.

During 2013 An Garda Síochána maintained its focus on our core commitments – the prevention and detection of crime, the maintenance of national security, and our daily work to keep our road network and communities safe. This was achieved through the dedication, commitment and good work of the men and women of An Garda Síochána working with the communities they serve.

Sadly, on January 25th, our colleague Detective Garda Adrian Donohoe was brutally murdered in Lordship, Dundalk, Co Louth. Adrian was a proud father of two young children, a loving husband to his wife Caroline, and a pillar of the local community. Adrian epitomised all that An Garda Síochána stands for and tragically died in service of his community. The investigation in relation to Adrian's murder remains live and our determination to bring the people who carried out this cowardly act to justice remains steadfast.

Unfortunately, last year saw the first increase in road deaths on our roads since 2006. An Garda Síochána will continue our work in educating road users and enforcing road legislation to ensure that as few lives are lost on the roads as possible. The loss of one life on the roads is one too many. This will be carried out in collaboration with all stakeholders, including, most importantly, members of the public because personal responsibility needs to be taken by all of us who use the roads whether it be as drivers, passengers, pedestrians or cyclists.

In this time of reduced budgets for all public bodies, An Garda Síochána introduced a range of measures in 2013 designed to increase efficiencies and cut costs, while ensuring that we maintained an effective policing service to citizens and the State. A key demonstration of the success of these measures are the Central Statistics Office's 2013 crime figures, which showed a reduction in the level of crime in the vast majority of crime groups during the year.

2013 also saw the conclusion of the Garda District and Station Rationalisation Programme and the introduction of new rosters. Both of these initiatives will ensure that members of An Garda Síochána will be more accessible and visible to communities around the country.

Although policing may not always be delivered in the form it has been previously, we will maintain our commitment to deliver a service that meets the expectations of the citizens we serve. Successful initiatives such as Operation Fiacla, which is an intelligence-led operation targeting prolific high impact offenders, demonstrate An Garda Síochána's agility and responsiveness in tackling emerging crime patterns and trends.

The work of An Garda Síochána would not be possible without the support of a range of Government Departments, national and international agencies, and our key stakeholders – communities.

In the international context, Ireland assumed the Presidency of the EU for a six month period on January 1st. Close co-ordination between An Garda Síochána and all agencies and Government Departments involved in the Presidency helped ensure it was a resounding success.

We also assisted our colleagues in the Police Service of Northern Ireland (PSNI) in providing the policing and security measures necessary to facilitate the hosting of the G8 Summit in Co. Fermanagh. We work with the PSNI on a daily basis to ensure that subversive activity is tackled and this close co-operation delivered significant results during the year in terms of arrests and captures of firearms and explosives.

Since its inception, An Garda Síochána has always operated on the basis of a communityfocus. The ability of An Garda Síochána to provide such a service is primarily due to this close partnership between ourselves and the community. An Garda Síochána values the support of the community and we are committed to doing everything we can to maintain and reenforce the trust, confidence and respect of the community through the provision of an open, transparent, and accountable policing service.

Nóirín O'Sullivan Commissioner of An Garda Síochána

Criminal Assets Bureau

The Criminal Assets Bureau was established by Government in 1996. The Bureau's remit is to target the assets of persons which derive or are suspected to derive from criminal conduct.

Since its inception the Bureau has been at the forefront of fighting organised crime. The Bureau is a statutory body with staff drawn from An Garda Síochána. the Office of the Revenue (including Commissioners Customs). the Department of Social Protection and the Department of Justice and Equality.

During 2013, the Criminal Assets Bureau commenced 8 new cases incorporating 27 respondents, before the High Court pursuant to the Proceeds of Crime Act 1996/2005.

During 2013 the Bureau also obtained:

Interim orders to the value of over  $\notin 2.7$  million and Interlocutory Orders to the value of approximately  $\notin 1$  million. Taxes and interest demanded was  $\notin 7.2$ million with approximately  $\notin 5.1$  million collected. Social Welfare savings amounted to over  $\notin 526,000$  while approximately  $\notin 227,000$  was recovered.

Assets targeted by the Bureau emanated from crimes associated with drug trafficking, theft, fraud, fuel laundering and cigarette smuggling.

Divisional Asset profilers trained by the Bureau continue to provide a criminal asset profiling service in each Garda Division in relation to persons or suspects operating within their area, with particular reference to those involved in drug dealing and serious criminal activity.

On the international scene, during 2013 the Bureau held the Presidency of the Camden Assets Recovery Inter-Agency Network (CARIN) Group

The Camden Assets Recovery Interagency Network (CARIN) is an international informal network of experts-practitioners in the field of asset tracing, freezing and confiscation and the Annual General Meeting of CARIN was held in Ireland on the 16th and 17th May 2013.

The Criminal Assets Bureau continues to participate in the Cross Border Excise Group and the Cross Border Fuel Group, two bodies targeting illegal smuggling of tobacco and alcohol and the laundering of fuel.

The Criminal Assets Bureau continues to be an active member of the ARO (Assets Recovery Offices) framework and is a member of the subgroup set up to review best practice in asset management.

Garda National Drugs Unit

The Garda National Drugs Unit (GNDU) has overall primary responsibility for Drug Law Enforcement. The Garda National Drugs Unit (GNDU) is tasked with the investigation of drug trafficking insofar as this jurisdiction is concerned. It has a national and international remit in this regard and also enjoys a fruitful relationship with Revenue's Customs Service, the Irish Navy and the Police Service of Northern Ireland. It has also forged strong partnerships with EU and International law enforcement agencies.

The GNDU carries out long term strategic and short term tactical investigations into the activities of Organised Crime Gangs (OCGs) based both here and on the European Continent from where drug traffickers ply their trade to the detriment of the Irish nation. The GNDU liaises with other European Police Forces and has strategic partners in the United Kingdom, Spain, Holland and Belgium; countries where OCGs affecting the Irish jurisdiction tend to be the most proactive.

In 2013 the Garda National Drugs Unit arrested 61 persons in connection with drug trafficking offences with €31,940,000 million of controlled drugs seized. This included cocaine, heroin, herbal cannabis, cannabis resin and ecstasy. In total 73 significant seizures were made.

Among the most successful investigations carried out by the Garda National Drugs Unit in 2013 were:

Operation Cogset:

A strategic drugs investigation into drug importation within the State resulting in a number of significant drug seizures (6) with a total value of  $\notin$ 4.7m.

Operation Nitrogen:

Operation Nitrogen continues to be the flagship for the investigation of cannabis cultivation in Ireland utilising the national and international remit of the Garda National Drugs Unit in conjunction with local District and Divisional Drugs Units.

The number of cannabis plants seized has been steadily increasing over the last number of years. In monetary value terms, in 2013, €23 million worth of plants were seized.

There were 28,851 cannabis plants seized during 2013 from a total of 394 cultivation and/or manufacture incidents.

Operation Bill 2:

A strategic drugs investigation into illicit drugs importation into the state resulted in a significant seizure in Co. Louth in September 2013 ( $\in$ 1.3 million).

Operation Pallet:

A strategic illicit drugs investigation into drug importation and distribution within the State resulted in 8 significant seizures with a total value of  $\in$ 1.6 million.

Operations Purse and Misspent:

These were two tactical operations which evolved into controlled deliveries resulting in 4 seizures in total with €9 million worth of drugs seized.

4 Test Purchase Operations: targeting mid range and low level drug dealers nationwide. As a result of these tactical investigations, 83 dealers were arrested in respect of 192 criminal offences.

The work of the Garda National Drugs Unit in 2013 has had a major impact on the drug trafficking community both here and abroad. The arrest and prosecution of individuals involved in drug trafficking activities and the disruption of supply routes has severely impacted on those intent on destroying the fabric of Irish society through the illicit drugs trade.

Conscious of the impact that drug trafficking has on the wider Irish community, the Garda National Drugs Unit will sustain its commitment to reduce the desire for illicit drugs through strategic partnerships with various government departments and non-government organisations.

Garda Air Support Unit

Incidents / Hours

In 2013 GASU aircraft flew over 1,400 hours attending to incidents in almost every Garda Division throughout the country; this included over 370 night hours. The unit attended over 2,300 incidents of which over 1,100 were within the six DMR (Dublin Metropolitan Region) Divisions. During these incidents over 140 suspects were detained, 16 missing persons were located and 47 vehicles were recovered.

Training

Throughout 2013 the nominated trainers at GASU continued to develop a training programme for Garda air observers. When completed, the training programme will serve to maintain a standard level of proficiency for each observer in particular areas associated with the various roles and capabilities of the unit.

As a result of extensive research in the area of training, which included collaborations with other police air support units, a complete and thorough review of current GASU training was conducted. The review identified areas for improvement in the selection and training process of new air observers. The review also resulted in the number of training modules being rationalised to a smaller number of pertinent modules.

Operation Shield

The G8 summit took place in June 2013 in County Fermanagh, Northern Ireland close to the border with the Republic. There was quite a workload in the months leading up to the event. This included meetings with local Garda management to identify suitable landing sites and staging areas for Garda helicopters, schedule photographic tasks required by them in the planning stages of the operation and to develop a strategy for the best use of Garda air assets in support of Operation Shield. Meetings were also convened with the PSNI to discuss a range of issues such as air to air radio communications, monitoring of groups of protesters and monitoring the Shannon Erne waterway to name but a few.

There was also an extensive work-up required by GASU and the PSNI air support unit to ensure deconfliction of aircraft in the area of operation, and to safeguard aircraft movements on each side of the border which ran very close to the summit venue. Over the days prior to and the days of the summit GASU provided round the clock air support to Operation Shield. This was made possible by having one helicopter fully Night Vision Goggle capable. Patrols along the border stretching from Donegal to Monaghan were carried out over a five day period. Approximately 40 hours flying time was completed by both the Garda fixed wing aircraft and the Garda helicopter in support of this operation.

Some noteworthy incidents involving the Air Support Unit which occurred throughout the year as follows:

Incident 1

In February 2013 a request for air support was received from Garda Units in South Dublin City. It was believed distressed female had gone into a local river with the intention of self-harm. It was 8 pm in the evening and very dark, a large amount of people both Gardaí and civilians were searching along the river bank. A.S.3 responded to the request and established overhead the area. After sometime searching using the Thermal Imaging Camera System a human heat source was detected on the south bank of the river some distance from the area being concentrated on by ground personnel. The crew of the helicopter guided Garda units to the location. The missing woman was found alive and immediately transferred to hospital.

Incident 2

Garda Air Support Unit assisted the Organised Crime Unit with an operation focusing on a mobile crime group who were targeting industrial commercial units with the purpose of stealing high value stock. On 5th February 2013 GASU deployed a number of covert flights monitoring movements of a criminal gang with the goal being to locate where the criminals were storing the stolen property. The crew of GASU recorded the location of a yard in Straffan, Kildare using thermal imaging. OCU members were provided with footage along with maps of the location.

On 6th February GASU assisted OCU in monitoring the movements of the criminal gang in a vehicle entering the Straffan yard. Members of OCU moved into position and entered the premises. Four suspects were arrested and a substantial amount of stolen property was recovered

21st August 2013: Arrest of Four Burglary Suspects, Co Wicklow. A request was received from Baltinglass Garda Station seeking air support near Carnew, Co. Wicklow. Four burglary suspects had fled into field after they crashed their getaway car while being pursued by civilians, they had just attempted to commit a burglary in the village. GASU commenced a detailed search using binoculars, daylight and thermal imaging cameras. During this process a member of the public observed the suspects in a yard getting into a large metal container. GASU monitored the container as ground units arrived. A search of the container revealed the four culprits.

Garda Dog Unit

G8 Summit:13th-18th June 2013:

In preparation for the summit VIP clearance searches were carried out in the Shelbourne Hotel, Phoenix Park, Farmleigh, RDS, Dublin Airport, Gaiety Theatre, Jeanie Johnston ship, Glendalough, Dalkey and Pembroke Street.

The explosive detection dogs played a vital role in security clearance searches during the EU Presidency from January to June 2013. They also assisted with public order duties during the G8 summit.

Some incidents involving the Garda Dog Unit occurred throughout the year as follows:

Arrest of the offender for an offence contrary to Section 13 NFOAP (Non-Fatal Offences Against the Person) Act 1997 on 16th August 2013. This incident refers to the recovery of a laser light which had been discarded. The laser was being shone directly at the Garda helicopter.

Robbery of Spar Shop, Lower Abbey Street, Dublin 1 on the 3rd April with use of a baton on staff member. Search of the area led to identification and arrest of a suspect.

Drug Detection by Garda Dog "Ben" on the 8th May 2013 in Ballymun resulting in the seizure of ecstasy tablets and cannabis herb with a value of €35,000.

Drug seizure on the 7th December 2013 where coke, crack cocaine, ecstasy tabs and marijuana as a result of indication by Garda dog "Flynn". The search occurred in Cabra.

There have been over 100 seizures with the use of Garda drug detection dogs during the course of 2013, the above being just a sample of the type of success.

The explosive detection dogs played a vital role in security clearance searches during the EU Presidency from January to June 2013. They also assisted with public order duties during the G8 summit.

Public order issues during the year were supported by the Dog Unit from demonstrations to major events including sporting occasions and large scale concerts.

Garda Mounted Unit

Listed below are details of a number of incidents involving the use of Garda horses during 2013.

While on patrol in Grafton Street the Mounted Unit pursued, located and searched a person, Gardaí then arrested the culprit in relation to robbery of a phone from a youth. The Mounted Unit provided high visibility and security protection in Dublin in relation to the G8 Summit.

The Mounted Unit assisted with Public Order duties during the year including supporting soccer matches, GAA matches and the use of horses playing a pivotal role in bringing order to opposing fans and crowd control.

Garda Water Unit

In 2013 there were many and various incidents where the Garda Water Unit were deployed, below are just a few.

Ireland's Presidency of the European Union, January to June 2013, Culvert/Manhole security searches and River Liffey patrols for the period.

Rescue of male who had attempted suicide off the Athlone Motorway Bridge. This male had climbed onto a concrete support underneath the bridge and was suffering from hypothermia. On becoming aware of the incident the Garda Water Unit immediately launched a boat and transferred the male on a spinal board, in the Garda boat to the waiting ambulance crew who transferred him to hospital where he made a full recovery.

While on a routine patrol of Dublin Bay on the 7th of April 2013, a Garda Water Unit crew responded to a call from the Irish Coastguard to search for a missing male swimmer off Dalkey Island. As one of the first resources on the scene, the Garda crew spoke to a witness. Arising from that information and using their knowledge of the local tides in the area, they commenced a search pattern and quickly located the swimmer; they then proceeded to perform CPR on him in the Garda boat. The swimmer was airlifted to hospital from the Garda boat. Tragically the swimmer died later that day.

During the G8 Summit which was held in Enniskillen, Northern Ireland from the 14th of June 2013 to the 18th of June 2013, the Garda Water Unit was tasked to patrol on a 24 hour basis the Countries' waterways border with Northern Ireland at Lough Erne, Belturbet, Co Cavan. This successful operation which involved all fifteen members of the Garda Water Unit working afloat with the marine trained members of the Emergency Response Unit, and also working closely with the PSNI Marine Support Unit on the Northern Side, resulted in security checks to all marine traffic entering or leaving Northern Ireland as well as patrolling the unofficial or "Off Navigation" marine routes to and from the border.

On December 18th 2013, as a result of a request from the Castlebar Garda District, the Garda Water Unit conducted a search of Lough Lannagh, Castlebar, County Mayo. The search was in relation to a mobile phone which was thrown into the water by a person connected with a murder. After a short search this mobile phone was recovered by the Garda Water Unit search team and handed to the Castlebar Scenes of Crime Unit.

On the 2nd and 3rd of November 2013, the Garda Water Unit were tasked to perform an evidence search in a river near Clonee, Co Meath at a scene where body parts of a missing person had been located, after completing the evidence search, the search team were then tasked to remove the body parts of this male from the river to local scenes of crime officers.

On the 17th of September 2013 and the 7th of October 2013, Garda Water Unit search teams were tasked to search for evidence relating to a murder at the Vartry Reservoir near Roundwood, Co Wicklow. On both dates important evidence including a mobile phone was located and recovered by the Garda Water Unit which led to the arrest of the suspect for this murder.

Garda Síochána Analysis Service

In 2013, Garda Síochána Analysis Service (GSAS) continued to support the organisation across the key priority areas identified in the Strategy Statement 2013-2015.

Reduced Crime, Safe Roads

GSAS continued to support operational activity targeted at reducing property crime (including burglaries, thefts and robberies) and support roads policing. Whilst the type of analysis for each operation may vary according to local circumstances and the nature of the problem, a common theme of the work of GSAS has been to provide information to support the efficient and effective deployment of resources. This includes:

• Identifying the most problematic offenders responsible for crime.

- Identifying key locations (or hotspots) where crime is most likely to occur in order to help support patrolling patterns.
- Identifying traffic collision hotspots to support the targeted deployment of safety cameras.

Additionally, GSAS has supported serious crime investigations. Over the last few years the quality of the work produced by GSAS Analysts has been recognised internationally. For the second consecutive year the work of Analysts in GSAS has been recognised with an award for best practice from the International Association of Crime Analysts.

Ensuring safe communities and safe homes

GSAS has also conducted analysis and research in 2013 to help support safer communities and homes. For example, GSAS Analysts have continued to:

- Examine public order issues, anti-social behaviour and assault trends.
- Provide support for the delivery of the Garda Youth Diversion Project, a multi-disciplinary, local community approach to tackling crime and disorder by young people.
- Provide support to help the development of crime prevention campaigns, providing the necessary information to help formulate strategies.
- Researchers in the Analysis Service have conducted a survey in 2013 looking at the experiences of victims of crime. The findings of this survey will be used to enhance the delivery of service to victims of crime.
- Researchers have also undertaken work to support the development of the new Diversity Strategy for the organisation which will support the delivery of services to Ireland's diverse communities.

Enhance service delivery

This runs through a significant number of our reports – as noted above, a common theme of the work of GSAS has been to provide information to support the efficient and effective deployment of resources.

Sex Offender Risk Assessment and Management

The National SORAM (Sex Offender Risk Assessment and Management) Office, is based at the Offices of the Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault Investigation Unit, Harcourt Square, Dublin 2 and was established in October 2013. This is a multi-agency Office with one member of staff from An Garda Síochána, the Probation Service and the Child and Family Agency (TUASLA) formerly part of the Health Service Executive (HSE). The National SORAM Office provides support to the local SORAM Teams on a day to day basis while working closely with the National SORAM Steering Group on the development of policy with regard to best practice, disclosure, etc.

The SORAM process was designed to be operated at both a National level (National SORAM Steering Group) and Local level (Local SORAM Team). The National Steering Group has responsibility for providing guidance, training and support on best practice to the local SORAM committees and has oversight of the local SORAM process. The Health Service Executive and the Irish Prison Service are also represented on the National SORAM Steering Group.

The SORAM arrangements apply to all convicted sex offenders who are subject to Part 2 of the Sex Offenders Act, 2001 and are also subject to supervision by the Probation Service on release from prison.

The National SORAM Office through its interaction with the Probation Service, the Child and Family Agency, the Prison Service and a range of Government and Non- Government agencies with regard to housing, provides a seamless structure for appropriately dealing with the release and rehabilitation of convicted sex offenders into the wider community on a nationwide basis.

Garda Technical Bureau

The overarching function of the Garda Technical Bureau is to provide a high quality Crime Scene Investigation service (at scene and under laboratory conditions) to An Garda Síochána and the Criminal Justice System at large. 2013 was a year the Technical Bureau enhanced its professional reputation, both inside and outside the organisation. This is a direct consequence of the efforts and dedication of the Technical Bureau staff.

Crime Scene Investigators Conference 2013

The Annual Crime Scene Investigators Conference was held in the Garda Training College, Templemore and at outdoor facilities in Clonmore on December 5th-6th 2013. Attendees included Crime Scene Investigators from the Divisional units accompanied by guests from the Police Service of Northern and the Irish Defence Forces. Participants attended Breakout Rooms facilitated by the Forensic Science Laboratory (FSL) and the Garda Technical Bureau and areas of learning included:

DNA swabbing, Presumptive Testing, Footwear Impressions, Blood Spatter, Fibre Lifting, ATM Skimming, Clandestine Drug Laboratories and Physical Fit Evidence.

The experts from the Photography Section provided practical demonstrations on photography of Injuries, Post Mortems, Footwear Impressions, Blood Spatter and Aerial Photography.

The Forensic Science Laboratory and Garda Technical Bureau Personnel also provided on scene instruction using staged suspicious death incidents at Clonmore with mock scenes including a rape murder scene, tiger kidnapping and a post mortem. These scenes allowed discussions to develop and issues such as cadaver fingerprinting, processing of the body, forensic awareness, prioritisation of evidence, communication of important information and DNA considerations were clarified by the relevant experts present.

Pilot Crime Scene Managers Course

In October 2013 the first Crime Scene Managers Course specific to Organisational policies and procedures was coordinated by the Garda Technical Bureau and the Garda Training College, Templemore.

The training modules are mirrored on the previous training completed by members of the Garda Technical Bureau in the UK. The aim of this course is to equip participants with the knowledge and skills required to perform the roles and responsibilities of the Crime Scene Manager to the highest standards.

The course participants, 12 in total, included members of the Garda Technical Bureau and a number of experienced Crime Scene Investigators from each of the Regions.

Postgraduate Diploma in Firearms Examination

The Intermediate Evidential Portfolios covers the following topics:

Analysis, Comparison, Evaluation of Friction Ridge Skin impressions

Recovery and Recording Friction Ridge Detail from Cadavers, Laboratory and Crime Scene.

Garda Bureau of Fraud Investigation

In 2013 the Garda Bureau of Fraud Investigation initiated a review of the existing organisational response to the investigation of reports of illegal money lending. Among the practical initiatives taken to deal with this matter included the participation by members of this Bureau in a seminar hosted by the National Traveller MABS (Money Advice and Budgeting Service) in October 2013.

The focus of the seminar was to work with persons in the National Traveller MABS to assist those who may have been victims of this type of criminal behaviour. Among the speakers were Detective Sergeant Ronan Joyce, Dermot Sreenan National Traveller MABS, Thomas Mc Cann Psychotherapist.

Garda Technical Bureau Photography Section

John Kavanagh achieved a Gold Award from the Irish Professional Photographers Association for his image of Garda canoeing sports star Peter Egan. John is a photographer with the Garda Technical Photography Section and this is an extremely prestigious award in the field of professional photography. The Irish Professional Photographers Association is a qualified and association prides itself on the professionalism, dedication and competency of their members to produce high quality images.

Maritime Analysis Operations Centre - Narcotics

An Garda Síochána continued to support the MAOC-N initiative in 2013, maintaining a Garda Liaison officer at the Irish office in the centre. MAOC-N is now in phase IV and its final phase under programme funding for Prevention of and Fight Against Crime (ISEC) from the European Union which runs until October 2015. Ireland and An Garda Síochána has continued to support the initiative through provision of resources which have contributed to the operational and strategic successes of MAOC-N in the area of co-ordinating maritime interdictions of cocaine in the Atlantic vector and building efforts and enhancing capacities with West African partners to help combat the threat posed to Europe in drug trafficking.

Tasking and Co-ordination Unit

OPERATION FIACLA

The Tasking and Co-ordination Unit co-ordinates Operation Fiacla. An Garda Síochána, under Operation Fiacla, continues to proactively target the persons and Organised Criminal Groups suspected of involvement in the commission of burglaries.

The operation, which is ongoing, is supported by Regional Anti-Burglary Operations based in the six Garda Regions. This ensures a nationwide co-ordinated response to this particular crime issue. The operations are co-ordinated from the National Support Services Section of An Garda Síochána.

Since its inception in April 2012, Operation Fiacla has proven successful. This is borne out by the 2013 burglary figures compiled by the Central Statistics Office, which show a 7.2% drop in the national burglary figures for the year 2013 compared to 2012. This equates to 26,115 offences recorded in 2013 as compared to 28,132 in 2012.

An Garda Síochána remains committed to targeting the persons and Groups identified as being involved in this type of crime.

Connect with Respect

The Garda Schools Programme in conjunction with the Department of Education and Skills designed a lesson plan on 'Internet Safety for Young People'. The lesson entitled 'Connect with Respect' addresses the social media element of the personal safety module of the Garda Schools Programme.

The Connect with Respect resource aims to help students in secondary schools to understand the impact that cyberbullying can have on different people, and to recognise that cyberbullying, is not acceptable. It aims to help prevent this behaviour from occurring, and to enable people to respond effectively if it does occur. This talk aims to change the attitude of bystanders to make them more likely to intervene positively and effectively in online bullying situations.

Garda Commissioner Martin Callinan and Minister for Education and Skills, Mr Ruairí Quinn T.D. with a student at the launch

The centre piece of this pack is the 'Let's Fight It Together' film. It is a short film (7 minutes) based on a composite view of real events developed by Childnet International. It depicts the story of a teenager who becomes the target of bullying via the internet and his mobile phone.

This initiative was launched by the Garda Commissioner on 4th February 2013 in advance of European Internet Safety Day which was on 5th February 2013. Lesson packs were distributed to Garda members and Divisional School Liaison Inspectors.

The total number of visits for 2013

Primary Schools 4554

Secondary Schools 1505

Total 6059

The total number of schools on the Garda Schools Programme database is 4,210; of these schools 1,671 (40%) received a visit from the local Garda in 2013.

Crimecall

The National Garda Crime Call office is attached to the Community Relations Bureau, Harcourt Square, Dublin 2.

The tenth series of Crime Call commenced in September 2013. The programme is presented by Grainne Seoige and Philip Boucher Hayes.

During 2013 new Garda presenters were introduced to develop the Garda presenter panel and to ensure a continued professional delivery of appeals.

Over the past year there has been an increase in studio appeals from families who have lost a relative as a result of a crime. The appeal involves a close family member joining the Garda investigator in studio on the night of the broadcast. The appeal follows the normal format where by the investigator looks to the public for their assistance, however the human interest aspect of the appeal is done by the relative.

Feedback to this new style of interview has been very positive, both from the families concerned and the public in general.

The Crime Prevention and Traffic segments of the programme continued to be a success with members of the public. A number of Crime Prevention features were broadcast during the year, including mobile phone and personal safety. The mail bag that was introduced in 2012 was very successful with viewers being invited to send a request to the Crime Prevention Sergeant for additional Crime Prevention information.

The Traffic segment of the programme was further developed during 2013 with the recording of some mini features including topics such as heavy goods vehicles, winter ready and lighting up.

Text Alert

The Garda Commissioner introduced a "Text Alert" initiative at the National Ploughing Championship on Tuesday the 24th of September 2013. "Text Alert" is designed to facilitate immediate and cost effective communication from An Garda Síochána to the public. This will be achieved in a structured and consistent way in conjunction with existing Community Crime Prevention Programmes (Community Alert, Neighbourhood Watch Group) or I.F.A. Branch etc. A copy of the "Text Alert Guidelines" developed by the National Community Policing Office can be found on www.garda.ie

Bogus Caller Cards

In September 2013 a bogus caller card was produced by the National Community Policing Office. Supplies of the cards were distributed to each Garda Division so Community Gardaí in their Districts could disseminate them to older persons in their communities.

This card assists in advising older people how to engage with uninvited callers to their homes. The object of this initiative is to empower the older person when dealing with unwanted or unknown callers and to reduce the need for them to have to engage in conversation with them.

The older person can hand the card to the caller advising her/him to leave their business card or fill in their contact details and he/she will be contacted if required. This eliminates the need for any further conversation and provides the older person with a means to ending the conversation without further argument or discussion. The genuine caller will have no difficulty with this proposal and it should make life a little more complicated for the unwanted caller.

Community Crime Prevention Programmes Launch

The "Community Crime Prevention Programmes" was launched by the Minister of Justice and Equality and the Garda Commissioner on the 31st of January 2013. A Memorandum of Understanding, concerning the operation of Community Alert, was also signed by the Commissioner of An Garda Síochána and the President of Muintir na Tíre.

Neighbourhood Watch and Community Alert (in conjunction with Muintir Na Tíre) established crime prevention initiatives in Ireland in 1985 and have enjoyed widespread support and appeal amongst all communities.

Following a review, involving the community and Gardaí/Muintir Na Tíre input, a number of proposals emerged to assist in promoting and supporting Neighbourhood Watch and Community Alert. Acknowledging these findings the Garda Commissioner has since approved a new framework for Neighbourhood Watch and Community Alert which is outlined in the "Community Crime Prevention Programmes" document. This document gives clear and concise information to the public on how to establish and maintain a Neighbourhood Watch or Community Alert scheme.

Community Alert & Neighbourhood Watch Representatives with Minster Alan Shatter & Garda Commissioner Martin Callinan, Assistant Commissioner Jack Nolan, C/Supt Ann Marie McMahon and Superintendant Karl Heller

Water Metering Programme – Crime Prevention Sheet

In November 2013 the Irish Water metering programme in consultation with the National Community Policing Office developed a crime prevention leaflet for the information of the public concerning Irish Water Staff Identification Cards and safety measures to combat any bogus callers to houses posing as staff or contractors of Irish Water. This leaflet was distributed to all Gardaí so it can be displayed in areas of Garda Stations or presented at Neighbourhood Watch and Community Alert meetings.

Aoibheann's Pink Tie Event

On Saturday 13th July 2013 Community Police in Ashbourne and Dunboyne and the Aoibheann's Pink Tie charity held a "Heroes and Princesses" children from all over the country who are currently receiving cancer treatment or have just finished treatment.

All of the children received a Garda 'goodie bag' containing Garda colouring books, pens, pencils, medals, chocolate and toys. Staff at Garda Stores, Santry, kindly volunteered their services in donating material and preparing the bags.

'Give us a Hand' Campaign

During the summer of 2013 the National Community Policing Office supported the 'Give us a Hand' Irish Coast Guard summer water safety campaign designed to protect children on beaches and near coastlines. Thirty thousand wristbands on behalf of the Irish Coast Guard were distributed by the National Community Policing Office to Community Gardaí across the country to handout to parents or guardians who were going to beaches or using waterways over the summer period.

Parents or guardians could write their phone numbers on the wristband so that lifeguards, members of An Garda Síochána or members of the public could contact the child's parents if the child became lost or separated.

The wristbands carried a message reminding the public to call 112 and ask for the Coast Guard for beach, water or cliff emergencies. Losing a child at a busy beach is a very stressful experience for both parent and child.

Diversity Consultation Project 2013

In January 2013, the Diversity Champion, Deputy Commissioner Strategy and Change Management established the Diversity Consultations Project Team. The Project's aim was to develop an extensive public consultation exercise which would directly inform a revised Diversity Strategy for An Garda Síochána. Invitation to this series of events was done through public notices on the Garda Website, internal notification on the Garda Síochána's Intranet and through sourcing an extensive contacts network in cooperation with the Garda Racial, Intercultural and Diversity Office and The Equality Authority. The consultations were conducted as part of the commitment to fulfil objectives as set out in An Garda Síochána's Diversity Strategy Statement 2009-2012.

These sessions primarily focussed on how An Garda Síochána's service delivery could be enhanced, the recognition of existing good practices and the identification of improvement opportunities in service delivery to all communities. Following each consultation session, an independent thematic analysis of the resultant data was conducted by the Garda Research Unit. A number of recurring themes in service delivery were identified and these have been established as the main 'Pillars' within the revised draft Diversity Strategy 2014-2016.

Garda National Traffic Bureau (GNTB)

Ireland Hosts TISPOL Executive Meeting 2013

The organisation TISPOL is an extensive and effective network of police officers, in which every European Union country is represented. Norway and Switzerland are also members, even though they are outside the EU.

TISPOL has long seen the importance of a relevant strategy, supporting its core business of making Europe's roads safer and more secure for everyone to use. As the European Commission has developed its Road Safety Action Plan to 2020, TISPOL has also taken the opportunity to ensure a clear focus to its own strategy. This will enable a strong platform for the future and will strengthen support for the European Commission's target of a 50% reduction by 2020 in the number of people killed on Europe's roads.

TISPOL's executive meeting is one of the most important dates in the calendar, attracting delegates from around the world to hear about the latest developments in the field of road policing and road safety. For the first time it was held in Ireland.

This executive meeting was attended by not only senior Police representatives from around Europe, but also by Commissioner Callinan, Minister Leo Varadkar T.D, Minister Alan Shatter T.D. and Mr Noel Brett CEO of the RSA (Road Safety Authority).

Launch of New Garda Speed Enforcement Zones

When launched in November 2010 a total of 518 stretches of road were selected as speed enforcement zones based on an analysis of 5 years of fatal and injury collision data from 2004 to 2008. An additional 243 stretches of road were further identified as having a collision history suitable for inclusion as a speed enforcement zone and were announced to the public in March 2013, coinciding with the St. Patrick's Day Bank Holiday weekend. 60% of these roads are regional/local roads while the remaining are national roads. In total therefore there are now 727 identified speed enforcement zones representing 2,354 kilometres - or 2.5% of the approximately 96,000 km of road network in Ireland.

48% of all fatal collisions in the five year period 2006 to 2012 occurred on these 727 sections of road.

Safety cameras only operate on sections of road which have a history of collisions occurring where speed was a contributory factor. The areas where the cameras are operating are available to the public on the Garda website.

The primary purpose of safety cameras is to reduce speed related collisions, lessen injuries and save lives.

The proportion of fatal collisions occurring in speed enforcement zones has reduced from 30% to 18%.

National 'Slow Down' Days: May and October 2013

Two "Slow Down" days were held before the June and October Bank Holiday weekends in 2013.

The objectives of the Operations were to raise awareness of the dangers of inappropriate and excessive speed, reduce the number of speed related collisions, and therefore save lives and in addition to reduce injuries on our roads.

The initiatives were widely reported in the media in advance and as part of the media strategy, the Garda Press and Public Relations Office released the numbers of vehicles that had gone past the Speed Camera Vans and the number of speed detections every couple of hours through the day. The public and private sector fleet operators were also informed by the Road Safety Unit in An Garda Síochána of the initiative and asked to participate. There was a great response with various companies promoting and circulating to its employees the key message to "Slow Down" and, whether driving for business or private purposes, to always drive within the speed and at a speed that is safe for the conditions. State and semi-state departments, the RSA, NTA, transport providers and local authorities were also involved.

In addition to highly visible speed checkpoints on national primary and secondary roads, GoSafe and Robot vans were fully deployed and noticed a decrease in speed, and greater speed compliance on both days.

Each Garda Division also had an area locally where members were available to give road safety advice and distribute leaflets.

All emergency service drivers when not responding to emergency calls were asked to lead by example - reducing their speed, and driving at speeds appropriate to the prevailing conditions.

Operation Focus – June 2013

June 2012 recorded one of the highest ever number of road deaths. As a result Operation Focus was carried out in all Garda Regions simultaneously in June 2013, and in individual Garda Regions on a monthly basis.

For the month of June, enforcement activity was increased each weekend, but in particular in relation to drink driving.

Additional MAT checkpoints took place during high risk times, especially at weekends.

CT 68 Project

A new CT68 (CT68 is the form for relevant data) came into use on the 1st of January 2014.

The new CT68 form will allow An Garda Síochána to enhance the level and quality of detail associated with every collision which will be of benefit to An Garda Síochána, the Road Safety Authority and other stakeholders, in targeting interventions. Additionally, An Garda Síochána will be providing data to the Road Safety Authority in a more timely way which will facilitate a more real-time analysis of collision data.

There are a number of differences between the new and old CT68 form, including:-

- The new CT68 form will no longer have to be printed and sent to the Road Safety Authority (RSA) as all information is automatically and electronically sent once the form is completed.
- Additional data being recorded and transmitted to the Road Safety Authority includes identification of hit and run collisions, whether the driver was driving for work, or a disqualified driver.
- In addition there is a new process for the verification of collision locations which will enable efficient and exact mapping of locations which is of key importance for road risk assessments.

3G ANPR (Automated Number Plate Recognition)

As part of the G8 preparations, approval was given to enhance the ANPR (Automated Number Plate Recognition) system by the use of 3G technology. This enables live uploads and downloads of data and alert/ warning information. In addition vehicle warnings, and suspect and stolen vehicle details are exchanged between An Garda Síochána and the PSNI every fifteen minutes.

Approximately one third of ANPR vehicles are now 3G compatible, and upgrading of the remainder of the ANPR fleet will continue in 2014 with the Road Safety Authority agreeing to provide the necessary funding to upgrade the remaining vehicles.

Driving for Work

Approximately 30% of fatal collisions involve people who "drive for work". A series of seminars took place around the country hosted by An Garda Síochána, the RSA and the HSA (Health and Safety Authority) to raise employer awareness of this issue.

In addition there were a number of targeted checkpoints in conjunction with the HSA.

Education

The Garda website garda.ie, now includes more detailed information in relation to enforcement activity, including 6 years of data for offences such as drink driving arrests, speeding and mobile phone use.

A joint RSA/ An Garda Síochána weekly advert is aired on national radio highlighting the previous week's fatality count, penalty points issued, and number of drink driving arrests.

The Traffic Corps are making increasing use of An Garda Síochána's Social Media sites, namely Facebook and Twitter to highlight educational and enforcement activity.

The "Traffic Watch" feature on Crimecall continues to raise awareness of road safety and advocate good road user behaviour by all.

An Garda Síochána and the RSA have developed and launched several co-branded information and educational booklets. "A Guide to Visitors to Ireland" is available as an aid to tourists visiting Ireland. The car rental companies will carry a copy of this booklet in each rental car and which is available in a number of languages. "Sharing the Road with Emergency Vehicles" has similarly been developed and launched in conjunction with all emergency service providers.

Managing Our Resources

Garda Professional Standards Unit

During 2013, the Garda Professional Standards Unit revised their examination methodology changing it from wide-scale District examinations to more focused thematic examinations. The process entails an analysis of District investigation files and the examination of a number of key operational processes. It also includes the examination of the management and tracking of evidential property and exhibits, which includes The revised methodology cash and drugs. ensures that the organisation is adhering to its commitments under Section 24 of the Garda Síochána Act 2005, through these enhanced, cost effective and efficient processes as approved by the Garda Commissioner.

The Garda Professional Standards Unit liaises closely with the Garda Internal Audit Section during examinations. This collaboration ensures a comprehensive and in-depth examination and audit of operational and financial processes and procedures.

To date, the Garda Professional Standards Unit has examined 21 Divisions which incorporated 85 Throughout Districts. 2013, the Garda Unit Professional Standards carried out examinations in 5 Divisions/specialist sections incorporating 14 Garda Districts, throughout the country. The schedule incorporated specific and targeted examinations directed by the Garda Commissioner. The associated examinations strengths, areas identify of concern and organisational risk and make specific recommendations to senior management with regard to addressing these areas. On finalising examinations, the unit assists Districts in the development of comprehensive improvement plans. Within six months, the Garda Professional Standards Unit commences a review of each District that was the subject of an examination with specific focus on each District improvement plan.

The Garda Professional Standards Unit liaises with the Garda Síochána Internal Affairs Section regarding behaviours which create organisational risk and those of particular concern. The Garda Professional Standards Unit devises their examinations around certain processes where additional focus is required. The findings of the Garda Professional Standards Unit are utilised to propose revisions and enhancements of organisational policy to the Commissioner in these specific areas. The unit makes recommendations with regard to issues raised by the Garda Síochána Inspectorate and the Garda Síochána Ombudsman Commission and alters its focus in accordance with the recommendations of these groups where appropriate.

The unit also provides its findings to the Director of Training and Development at the Garda College and makes recommendations with regard to the modification or intensification of Garda training, in particular areas where required. The unit provides guidance on these areas at various organisational conferences, meetings and training courses.

The comprehensive scope of the Garda Professional Standards Unit examinations and reviews continues to promote awareness of issues, more streamlined processes, greater efficiencies and a more professional police service.

Change Management Section

District and Station Rationalisation Programme

Our record of the implementation of successful change initiatives continued throughout 2013. The Garda Station and District rationalisation programme was ongoing throughout the year with the closure of 100 Garda Stations and the amalgamation of 28 Districts. This brings the total number of station closures to 139 and the total number of District Amalgamations to 32, since the programme commenced in 2012.

This change programme was designed to position An Garda Síochána to respond efficiently and effectively to future challenges and to enhance the policing service to the people of Ireland, by ensuring the best possible use of all organisational resources.

Appropriate policing arrangements were put in place in all areas impacted by these changes, to ensure a more efficient delivery of policing services.

The manner in which local Chief Superintendents and Superintendents engaged in the process was central to its successful implementation. Having specially appointed local project teams, involving members of all ranks, as well as civilian staff and the Garda staff associations helped to ensure the changes were managed successfully and that ongoing feedback could be provided to Change Management to ensure any issues identified could be resolved.

The list of station closures and District amalgamations in 2013 are available on www.garda.ie.

Lessons Learned Office

Since its inception in 2010 more than 735 Lessons Learned submissions have been made to the Lessons Learned Office. Of these, 72% have been closed and 28% remain active.

The Lessons Learned Framework (LLF) provides all Garda and civilian staff members with a forum for making submissions, in cases where they believe they have identified a significant improvement opportunity for An Garda Síochána. These improvement opportunities often arise as a result of learning from significant past events

In line with policy, a high-level Lessons Learned Board, chaired by Deputy Commissioner Strategy and Change Management was established to;

- Oversee the management of Lessons Learned in An Garda Síochána.
- Stimulate the generation of new Lessons Learned submissions.
- Support the adoption of Lessons Learned throughout the Garda organisation by embedding them in our systems, processes, policies and cultures.

At the same time a Lessons Learned Office was established in Change Management Section to ensure the effective day-to-day administration of the framework. Superintendent, Change Management is the Lessons Learned Coordinator and is supported in this role by staff of the Lessons Learned Office; a part-time Sergeant, Garda and full-time Clerical Officer. The office has a broad range of roles and responsibilities which include:

- Supporting the activities of the Lessons Learned Board.
- Providing support, advice and guidance to those involved in the framework at any level.

- Preparing and publishing Lessons Learned Bulletins on our intranet – the Garda Portal.

National Risk Management Office

An organisation risk management policy was introduced by An Garda Síochána in March 2010. The policy, and its operation, was developed in accordance with the publication entitled 'Risk Management Guidance for Government Departments and Offices'.

In line with the policy, a high-level Risk Governance Board, chaired by the office of the Deputy Commissioner Strategy and Change Management, was established to oversee the management of risk within An Garda Síochána. At the same time, a National Risk Management Office was established in Change Management Section to ensure the effective day-to-day administration of the policy.

The National Risk Management Office is staffed by a part-time Inspector (the National Risk Manager), Sergeant and Garda. The office has a broad range of roles and responsibilities which include:

- Supporting the activities of the Risk Governance Board.
- Providing support, advice and guidance to those involved in risk management at local level.
- Reviewing, on an ongoing basis, the operation and performance of An Garda Síochána's risk management policy and making recommendations for its future operation.

Policy and Planning Unit

The Policy and Planning Unit provides an essential co-ordinating function ensuring that policy and planning strategies across the Garda organisation are channelled to support the statutory function and objectives of An Garda Síochána. The Unit has the responsibility for developing, disseminating and evaluating Garda Corporate Strategies, and Annual Policing Plans. The unit currently comprises of one Sergeant and four Garda members.

The Unit also facilitates the policy development process so that policy making is accomplished in an integrated fashion across the Garda organisation. It ensures the co-ordination of the drafting, human rights certification, approval, publication and review of all Garda policy. The Unit liaises with policy owners to ensure that policy is drafted to the highest standards and clearly reflects the vision and mission of An Garda Síochána.

The staff of the Policy and Planning Unit have a broad range of operational policing experience, and a good understanding of the systems and mechanics at work throughout the Garda organisation. In addition Unit members hold postgraduate qualifications (generally Masters or above) in a diverse range of disciplines including, Criminal Justice, Administration of Justice, Law, Strategic Planning, Organisation Development & Design, Economics, Research Analysis, Organisational Behaviour, Project Management, Public Administration, Public Management and Organisation Inspection and Oversight.

For this reason, and in addition to their core functions, staff of the Policy and Planning Unit are regularly called upon by Garda management to conduct strategic analysis of Garda sections and to review their effectiveness through an examination of their work methods, workload and activity analysis.

Irish Language Implementation Policy Committee

"An Garda Síochána has been lauded as a role model for Government departments to follow when it comes to Irish language development" (Irish Times, 14 December 2013)

An Garda Síochána has always endeavoured to promote the Irish language within the organisation. In 2013, the Irish Language Implementation Policy Committee succeeded in strengthening An Garda Síochána's commitment to the language after it undertook various initiatives and projects.

The Irish Language Implementation Policy Committee is responsible for implementing and monitoring An Garda Síochána's Irish Language Schemes, ensuring compliance with statutory obligations under the Official Languages Act 2003, and An Garda Síochána Act 2005, and devising and implementing new initiatives to improve the quantity and quality of services provided for the public through Irish.

In 2013, the organisation received recognition in the Houses of the Oireachtas, from the office of An Choimisinéir Teanga, and from the general secretary of Conradhna Gaeilge, Julian Dé Spáinn for its commitment to the full implementation of the Official Languages Act 2003.

Irish Language Expression Cards

In December 2013, the Garda Commissioner approved the issuing of Irish Language Expression cards for members of An Garda Síochána. The cards contain various phrases and expressions including basic greetings, taking details, dealing with a member of the public at a check point and expressing a lack of fluency in Irish to a member of the public who wishes to conduct his/her business in Irish.

The cards, which have been measured to fit in the insert at the back of members' official notebooks, will prove to be a valuable and easily accessible resource for members who may need assistance when dealing with members of the public through the medium of Irish. A soft copy of the card can be located on the internal Garda portal along with a list of Irish-speaking members.

An Garda Síochána's Language Schemes

2013 saw the continuation of An Garda Síochána's Irish Language Scheme 2009-2012 and the completion of the draft scheme for 2013-2016. A review of the first scheme was carried out in 2013 and it confirmed that significant progress towards meeting most of our commitments had been achieved.

The Irish Language Gaeltacht Programme

The Irish Language Gaeltacht Programme, which provides intensive Irish language immersion courses in Gaeltacht areas for members of An Garda Síochána, went from strength to strength in 2013. Three courses were delivered throughout the year in three of the biggest Gaeltacht regions.

The courses were held in Acadamhnah Ollscolaíochta Gaeilge (NUIG), An Cheathrú Rua, Co. Galway, Acadamhnah Ollscolaíochta Gaeilge (NUIG), Gaoth Dobhair, Co. Donegal and Oidhreacht Chorca Dhuibhne, Baile An Fheirtéaraigh in Co. Kerry.

Irish Language In-service Programme

The Irish Language In-Service Programme, which provides Continuous Professional Development in Irish language training for Gardaí who wish to expand their competence in the language, progressed further in 2013. The programme is now being rolled out in three Divisions, Galway, Donegal and Kerry. Training in the Galway and Kerry Division is delivered by Irish language teachers from the Garda College with Acadamh na hOllscolaíochta, Gaeilge, Gaoth Dobhair delivering the course to members in the Donegal Division.

Rannóg Na Gaeilge

2013 was a busy year for the staff of Rannóg na Gaeilge in the Garda College dealing with a large volume of translations, preparing the Irish curriculum of the BA in Applied Policing for the return of students in July 2014, organising inservice courses in various areas throughout the country, ensuring that the requirements of the Official Languages Act 2003 are being implemented and generally promoting Irish within An Garda Síochána.

Throughout 2013, much of the day to day work of Rannóg na Gaeilge has involved translations of Garda publications into Irish as is required under the Official Languages Act 2003, the translation of the Garda Annual Report to name but one. The Rannóg is also responsible for many legal translations, in particular those from the Fixed Penalty Charge Office. Official translation work involves liaising with An Coiste Téarmaíochta on a regular basis and the section is grateful for their continued help and support. The Rannóg also deals with translations of terminology and signage as they come in from various Garda Stations and members throughout the divisions.

Members of the section also organise and conduct Oral Irish Proficiency Exams and staff are willing to offer assistance to members preparing to sit these exams or to simply improve their standard of Irish. Language classes have been conducted in the Garda College and in Garda HQ with courses also being offered in Gaeltacht areas.

Gaeilge le Chéile, a new page on the Garda Portal, was launched in 2013 also. This new facility is available to every staff member with access to the Portal with an interest in improving his/her Irish on both a personal and professional level. The Webpage will be further developed throughout the year and it is hoped that the numbers availing of Gaeilge le Chéile will continue to increase in the future. Gaeilge le Chéile can be accessed via the Web and Team Pages from the Garda Portal's Homepage and clicking on the Irish Section.

2013 was a big year for Irish in general as it was Bliain na Gaeilge. It was a huge celebration of the language with Irish events being organised all over the country. One such event was Comhrá 24/7. This was a World Record Attempt that was organised by Bliain na Gaeilge to have the Longest Continuous Conversation in Irish ever.

This continuous conversation lasted from 1:00pm Sunday 29/09/13 to 1:00pm Sunday 6/10/13. The conversation was streamed live on-line the whole time and An Garda Síochána did their bit for the World Record Attempt from 4-5:00 pm on Wednesday the 2nd October 2013 in the Garda College. The World Record Attempt was successful and it was a source of great pride that An Garda Síochána was involved in such a positive event regarding Irish.

The main aim of Rannóg na Gaeilge continues to be to ensure that An Garda Síochána adheres to the Official Languages Act 2003, to design and provide Irish language training for new and existing members of the organisation, both Garda and Civilian, and to promote a positive attitude towards Irish.

European Certificate in Irish (TEG)-Conferring Ceremony Galway Division

In 2013, funding was made available for members to sit the TEG examinations (European Certificate in Irish). Members from the Galway Division sat the examinations in April 2013.

A conferring ceremony took place in Galway on 16 September 2013 where members were presented with their internationally recognised certificates by the Director of TEG Siuán Ní Mhaonaigh, and Assistant Commissioner Dónall Ó'Cualáin.

Assistant Commissioner Dónall Ó'Cualáin and the Director of Teastas Eorpachna Gaeilge (NUI Maynooth, Siuán Ní Mhaonaigh, with members from the Galway Division at the TEG conferring ceremony in September 2013.

Garda Internal Audit Unit

The mission of the Garda Internal Audit Section is to have in place best practice internal financial control including internal audit and risk management strategies in support of the objectives of An Garda Síochána as an organisation and of the Commissioner as Accounting Officer. The Head of Internal Audit reports to the Deputy Commissioner Strategy and Change Management and to the Audit Committee.

Internal Audit advises the Garda Commissioner in their role as Accounting Officer for the Garda voted expenditure and income. In particular Internal Audit advises in regard to financial controls and the signing by the Commissioner of the annual Statement of Internal Financial Control with the Appropriation Account.

Internal Audit Standards

Garda Internal Audit has adopted the Code of Ethics and Standards for the Professional Practice of Internal Audit in Central Government Departments and Agencies of State launched by the Department of Public Expenditure and Reform in November 2012. During 2013 Internal Audit procedures and practices were reviewed to ensure compliance with these professional standards.

Thematic Audits

Thematic audits are those that impinge across the whole Garda organisation rather than focusing on a Division/ District/ Section or Business Unit.

Thematic Audits in 2013 included;

- Audit of Procurement Procedures
- Audit of Salary and Pension
   Overpayments
- Audit of Sick and Absence Management
- Audit of Superannuation and Pensions.

This work mainly falls into two categories. Firstly, audit of sections of the Garda organisation i.e. Divisions/ Districts/ Section and Business Unit. In these audits we examine the management processes and financial controls within these sections of An Garda Síochána. Secondly, thematic audits that focus on themes or issues highlighted from a risk assessment or from previous audit work, these audits examine how themes/issues are managed across the whole Garda organisation.

Work Completed

Twenty two audit reports were completed in 2013. These included;

- Eight audits of Garda Divisions/ Districts/ Specialist Units.
- Seven Thematic Audits.
- Six Review Audit Reports which focused on the implementation of recommendation from previous audits.
- One report to the Garda Commissioner in relation to financial control.

Risk Reduction

Internal Audit, as part of the overall governance and control environment within An Garda Síochána, provides reasonable audit assurance that significant risks are identified, managed and controlled effectively throughout the organisation. Where such assurance cannot be given for any reason the Garda Commissioner is informed. Internal Audit Reports have identified risks to the financial management of the organisation. These reports classify the recommendations made, as priorities 1 to 3. Priority 1 issues need to be given immediate attention by management.

Anti-Fraud Policy

In August 2012, an Anti-Fraud Policy was launched. This policy is designed to provide information and guidance to all staff in relation to the risk of fraud against the Garda Vote. It encourages ethical work practices and creates awareness of the risk of fraud throughout the organisation. The policy is in line with recommended practice throughout the public service and the requirement to report annually to the Comptroller and Auditor General all cases of suspected fraudulent activity. In 2013 the operation of this policy was reviewed and the policy was amended in light of this review.

Collaboration with Garda Professional Standards Unit

During 2013 Garda Internal Audit collaborated on three audit assignments with staff from the Garda Professional Standards Unit. This collaboration had the advantage of using the skills of the staff from both units to best effect.

At the Launch of the Internal Audit Standards for Departments and Agencies of State in Farmleigh House, (L - R) Nuala Comerford (Chair Irish Committee of Chartered Institute of Internal Auditors, CIIA), Niall Kelly (Head of Internal Audit An Garda Síochána), David Moloney (Ast Secretary Dept of Public Expenditure and Reform) Pamela Mc Donald (CIIA Council Member)

It is anticipated that the first students will enter the Garda College in July 2014 following an extensive process of assessment and evaluation including online questionnaires and assessments, on-site assessments, interviews, and physical and medical examinations.

The first stages will be conducted by the PAS, (Public Appointments Service) with candidates who qualify through these being placed in order of merit for consideration by the Garda Commissioner for assessment through physical, medical and security checks.

Garda Central Vetting Unit

During 2013 the staffing levels in the Garda Central Vetting Unit were supplemented by redeploying civilian personnel from the Department of Agriculture into a number of locations throughout the south-east region. There are now 5 offices under the Vetting Unit – Thurles, Ennis, Tipperary Town, Waterford and Enniscorthy. These additional resources will allow the Vetting Unit to undertake the extensive range of responsibilities as provided for in the National Vetting Bureau (Children & Vulnerable Adults) Act 2012. The augmented staffing levels is testament to the recognition of the critical work undertaken by the Vetting Unit and the awareness of the significance attached to the system and its implications for the protection of children and vulnerable persons, as well as access to employment and voluntary services.

Garda Boyle and Irwin and Reserve Garda Corrigan receiving awards from the "Irish Water Safety" Council in Dublin Castle from Minister Fergus O'Dowd.

Garda Boyle, Garda Irwin and Reserve Garda Corrigan receiving the "Just In Time" award from Minister Fergus O'Dowd and the Chairperson of Irish Water Safety. This award was presented to the Gardaí involved for saving the lives of two members of the public in two separate road collisions, and Irish Water Safety decided that these efforts were worthy of such an award.

The first incident was when Garda Irwin and R/Garda Corrigan observed a car crash into the Knappagh beg lake on the outskirts of Westport, and ended up on its roof partially submerged in the water. They immediately went to the aid of the driver who was alone, they kept the mans head above water for twenty minutes while they waited for the Fire Service to come and free the man who was trapped inside the car. This man was freed and taken to Mayo General Hospital where he made a full recovery and thanked the Gardaí for saving his life.

The second incident was when Garda Irwin and Garda Boyle observed a car that had crashed into the pier at Westport Quay in the early hours of the morning. This car was overhanging the edge of the pier with a 20 feet drop into the deep sea below. Gardaí then spotted this male with their flashlight clinging on to the bottom of the sea wall. Gardaí entered the water and dragged this unresponsive male to dry ground. Garda Boyle and Irwin then quickly removed this mans wet clothing and placed him in the patrol car and turned the heat up to the max. Paramedics stated that the after care displayed by Gardaí to this man probably saved his life for a second time. The male was still quite ill, but was released four days

The 18th Annual West Cork Garda Youth Awards

These awards celebrate outstanding young people between the ages of 14 and 21 years in West Cork. Gardaí and SuperValu recognise that a lot of good work is being done by young people in every community in West Cork.

This year, a record number of 141 young people were nominated. This reflects the excellent standing in which the Awards are held in the wider community. A total of 17 awards were presented on the night; 5 Overall awards, 8 District awards, 2 Group awards, 1 Special Achievement award, and 1 Outstanding Contribution to Youth Award.

The Group Award category applies to groups of two or more young people whose combined efforts have contributed positively to their communities. The Special Achievement category applies to any young person who has defied the odds, or overcome difficult circumstances, and whose commitment deserves recognition. The Outstanding Contribution to Youth Award is a way in which to honour those who have inspired and assisted young people to fulfil their potential.

In his speech, Chief Superintendent Thomas Hayes paid tribute to the Award winners, stating that he had no doubt that these young people would be the leaders of the future. He also stressed the importance of young people volunteering in their communities, and that An Garda Síochána was delighted to be in a position to honour the award winners.

Inspector Brendan Fogarty, Bandon Garda Station, who was chairman of the judging committee, remarked "Each year we are consistently impressed and humbled by the sacrifices made by these young people, as they contribute to their community, both at a local level, and also in wider areas. The award winners are truly worthy, but the standard of nominations in general was at a very high level. An Garda Síochána would like to pay tribute to SuperValu for their continued sponsorship of the Youth Awards."

Missing Persons Bureau

National Missing Persons Day

An Garda Síochána was proud to work with the Department of Justice and Equality to launch National Missing Persons Day in Ireland on 4th December 2013. This inaugural event was held in Farmleigh House in the Phoenix Park, Dublin.

The event was attended by the Minister for Justice and Equality, the Garda Commissioner, representatives from the numerous agencies who support the search for missing persons along with many of the families and friends of those who remain missing in Ireland.

A missing person report can result from a wide variety of situations – being lost, a child running away from home, a domestic situation which drives a person away, in some cases suicide, and sometimes homicide. A person who remains missing leaves behind loved ones and family where many questions are asked and unfortunately sometimes remain unanswered.

An event, such as this, which commemorates the missing and recognises the lasting trauma for their families and friends, is invaluable. It will draw attention to open or unsolved missing persons cases, and it will create an opportunity to provide information on the support services which are available.

In 2013 An Garda Síochána investigated 7,753 missing person reports (table at the end of this report refers, see pg 52). Thankfully, most people are located in a relatively short period of time, but unfortunately some remain missing. An Garda Síochána will not close a missing person investigation until the person is found.

The Missing Persons Bureau continue to invest in, and develop policies, practices and procedures to ensure that the standard is in keeping with best international practice which will result in reaching an even more successful conclusion in missing person investigations.

Child Rescue Ireland (CRI) Alert

Child Rescue Ireland (CRI) Alert is a system that An Garda Síochána can utilise when seeking the assistance of the public when investigating child abduction cases. There are strict criteria which must be met before consideration will be given to launching a CRI Alert –

- The child is under the age of eighteen (18) years
- There is a reasonable belief that the child has been abducted
- There is a reasonable belief that there is an immediate and serious risk to the health or welfare of a child
- There is sufficient information available to enable the public to assist the Garda Síochána in locating the child

If these criteria are met, alert information is assembled for distribution to the public via several media – e.g. radio, television, social network sites and electronic road signs. The CRI Alert message encourages the public to look for the abducted child.

In 2013 there were two (2) CRI Alerts launched; one from Carlow and one from Roscommon. The CRI Alert system has proven to be effective and continues to be developed. On 4th December 2013 An Garda Síochána in conjunction with Vodafone Ireland launched the 'CRI Alert Smartphone App'.

This CRI Alert App is free to download from mobile application stores and will allow each person to receive the details of the child abduction directly to their Smartphone should a CRI Alert be launched. The CRI Alert App has a second feature that allows parents to securely store, on their phone, the image and details of their children. This will ensure that if a child went missing the parents will be able to rapidly provide up-to-date details of their child to An Garda Síochána without delay.

116000 Missing Children Hotline

On 7th June 2013 An Garda Síochána was proud to be associated with the official launch of the 116000 Missing Children Hotline. This is a free phone number which is reserved in all EU member states for missing children.

Bearing in mind that this is not an emergency number, and the first port of call must always be An Garda Síochána, this additional service is provided with the best interests of children in mind. The service in Ireland is run by the ISPCC and it provides emotional support to children who are missing, their family and others responsible for the missing child. For more information please see - www.missingchildrenshotline.ie

Firearms Policy Unit

Since April 2008, the Firearms Policy Unit has acted as a central reference point for all firearms licensing stakeholders throughout the country. The stakeholders include Officers of An Garda Síochána tasked with receiving and processing thousands of applications. The Firearms Policy Unit liaise regularly with the Department of Justice and Equality, Registered Firearms Dealers, Shooting Range Operators and representatives from the hundreds of shooting bodies and gun clubs dispersed throughout the jurisdiction.

The Firearms Policy Unit continues to update and monitor the firearms licensing section on the Garda website www.garda.ie. All firearms application forms, Statutory Instruments relevant to the new legislation, a copy of the Commissioner's Guidelines, Frequently Asked Questions etc can be accessed by members of the public on the website.

Firearm Renewal Processes

The first renewal phase of firearms certificates commenced on 1st August 2012 and is nearing completion. As part of the renewal process, every existing firearm certificate holder receives a Firearm Certificate Renewal Form (FCR) approximately 3 months prior to the expiry of their current certificate. The FCR is pre-populated with information relevant to that particular renewal application. The Firearms Policy Unit briefed all of the shooting representative groups on the renewal processes prior to its commencement and the message to every firearm owner is clear; please ensure they return their renewal form to An Garda Síochána as soon as possible for processing.

Numbers of Firearm Certificates

The total number of all classes of firearm certificates in existence in the State at the end of 2013 was circa 178,000 and it is anticipated that, for a combination of reasons primarily economic, the overall number of firearm certificates in the State will decrease from the numbers that were in existence in previous years.

Ensuring all outstanding firearm certificates are renewed throughout the country continues to be the number one priority for the Firearms Policy Unit. The continued assistance of the shooting public is paramount to ensure that all firearms are properly licensed and fully accounted for in every Garda District throughout the country.
