The Minister for Justice

Sir,

The following is the annual report on crime which came to the notice of the Garda Siochána during the year ending the 31st December 1984.

I am pleased to report that there was an overall decrease in indictable crime of 2.6% in comparison to the figure for 1983. This was the first reduction in crime since 1978 and is a very welcome development. The total number of indictable offences recorded for 1984 was 99,727. Despite the reduction the incidence of crime remains at a very high level.

The largest decrease (4.0%) was at Group III, Larcenies etc. Larcenies from unattended vehicles again showed a decrease (7.6% over 1983). This continuous decrease is no doubt due, in part at least, to an increasing awareness on the part of the public of the risk of leaving property unattended and exposed to view in motor vehicles. The "Garda Patrol" television programme through its constant airing of this theme would probably have contributed in a big way to this awareness. Larcenies from unattended vehicles account for 18% of overall crime. Offences at Group II, i.e. Offences Against Property with Violence, (which includes burglary, robbery, etc.) show a slight decrease of 0.9%. Whereas simple burglaries decreased by 1.7%, there was a marked increase of 313 in crimes of aggravated burglary (i.e. where firearms or other offensive weapons were carried). Of the 1,129 aggravated burglaries in 1984, only 235 referred to dwelling-houses; the remainder relating to business premises, warehouses etc. The increase in aggravated burglary may be due to a heightening expectation on the part of the burglar that his entry could meet with some opposition. Groups I and IV, (Offences against the Person and Miscellaneous Offences) increased by 1.1% and 3.2% respectively.

Firearms were carried in the commission of 440 crimes, an increase of 15 on previous year. Armed crime at Banks increased by 3 (from 7 to 10) while Armed Crime at Post Offices decreased by 4 (from 36 to 32).

During the year 1,369 persons were found in illegal possession of drugs and there were 1,704 seizures compared to 1,822 persons and 2,278 seizures in the previous year, decreases of 24.9% and 25.2% respectively. At the end of December, 1984, a total of 1,949 members of the Force had undergone a Course on Drugs at Garda Headquarters since the inception of the Course early in 1981. During the year four additional dogs were trained for drug detection bringing the total to five, four of which were allocated to the Drug Unit at Dublin and one at Cork City. There are some indications that the drug menace is being brought under control, but there can be no relaxation of effort here. Everything possible is being done to counteract this menace. Training methods are being constantly up-dated and close contact is being maintained with the international scene.

During the year 23 murders were committed, 22 of which were detected.

Of the total number of persons convicted for 1984 crimes or dealt with by way of caution under the Juvenile Liaison Scheme, 3,924 were juveniles (under 17 years) i.e. 29.1%. It is my intention to continue to boost the Juvenile Liaison Scheme and to encourage its growth as I believe that it has significant potential for youth betterment.

There were 434 fatal traffic accidents during the year resulting in the deaths of 465 people. I am pleased to record that these figures show a decrease of 52 in the number of fatal accidents and 70 in the number of persons killed compared with figures for the previous year. However, despite this decrease, the figures give cause for concern.

Regretably, again this year we record the murder of a member of the Force, Detective Garda Hand, who died courageously at the scene of an armed Post Office robbery in August. A number of men subsequently appeared in Court charged in connection with this murder.

The Dublin Metropolitan Area accounted for 57.8% of the total crime. There was an overall decrease of 4.8% in crime in the Dublin area in comparison to the year 1983.

It is considered that the introduction of the Neighbourhood Watch Scheme in certain areas in Dublin City and the increased patrolling by uniformed members in urban areas have helped to reduce the crime rate. Arrangements are being made to extend the Neighbourhood Watch Scheme to the rest of the Dublin Metropolitan Area and other suitable areas throughout the country. To be successful this scheme requires a sense of commitment from both the local community and the Gardai. Everything possible will be done by the Gardai to ensure its success. It is hoped that (a) the extension of this scheme; (b) the introduction of the new National Communications Network, and (c) the present policy of having a greater Garda presence in areas of high crime will help to reduce crime.

The end of the year under review produced an upsurge in a most despicable type of crime in the form of attacks on the elderly, particularly those residing in remote areas. Such acts of violence against the most vulnerable section of our society have been a matter of grave concern to the Gardai and community alike. Special measures were taken by the Gardai in this matter and in rural areas "Community Alert" a project developed in conjunction with Muintir na Tire, which utilises the resources of rural organisations, was encouraged for the protection of the elderly and proved successful.

Again in recent times there has been a marked increase in the number of so-called "joyriding" escapades. Sadly in some instances these have resulted in death and serious injury. With the determination and goodwill of all concerned this problem is being tackled vigorously. Many remedies have been suggested but the rule of law must be observed in these as in others where harsh remedial measures would seem to be called for. The public may be assured in this regard that all the necessary measures which are legally permissible will be brought to bear in dealing with this menace to society.

I should like to place on record the valuable co-operation received from Community Organisations and the public in general during 1984.

Yours respectfully,

Commissioner

CRIME PREVENTION

A Crime Prevention Advisory Service is available to the public in each Garda Division. In Dublin the service is provided by one Detective Inspector and four Sergeants. In addition, there are nineteen Sergeants so employed at different centres throughout the country.

This service is provided by way of security surveys at business premises and by the transmission of advice to the public generally on crime prevention matters. Every opportunity is taken to generate public interest in the prevention of crime and the methods of spreading the message include:- the distribution of literature; press publications; coverage on t.v./radio; talks/lectures and the mounting of exhibitions. The weekly "Garda Patrol" t.v. programme plays an immeasurable part in acquainting the public on crime trends and on protective procedures. This programme is also regarded as a very valuable medium of information in the detection of serious crime.

The countrywide attacks on the elderly has been a disturbing development. The Force is deeply appreciative of the initiative shown by rurally based community organisations in promoting a national campaign designed to provide reassurance for the elderly, to furnish them with advice on self protective measures and on means of communicating information about strange persons or happenings. Members of the Force have liaised with community leaders in identifying persons at risk and in providing the required advice and assistance. This campaign has resulted in an abatement in the level of attacks and the cultivation of a degree of community co-operation and vigilance where the Garda Siochána are procuring valuable information in their efforts to bring the perpretators to justice.

JUVENILE LIAISON SCHEME

Seventy members of the Force are employed in the operation of the Scheme and these are based at thirtyeight centres in Dublin and throughout the country. Juvenile offenders are admitted to the Scheme, subject to special conditions, and cautioned as an alternative to being prosecuted before the courts.

Juvenile Liaison Officers are appointed on the basis of their experience, aptitude and commitment for dealing with the youth and because of their involvement with general community affairs. Each appointee undergoes a course of training designed to familiarise him/her with all facets of youth work.

The supervision of juvenile offenders and potential delinquents is a feature of the scheme and one to which Juvenile Liaison Officers pay special attention. Talks and lectures to youth groups are also components of the Scheme to which Juvenile Liaison Officers specially address themselves.

GARDA COMMUNITY RELATIONS

The Community Relations Section at Garda Headquarters is responsible for the administration of community relations matters, the Crime Prevention Advisory Service and the Juvenile Liaison Scheme. The objectives of the Section are to establish ways and means of fostering good relations between the Garda Siochána and the community and to advise the public on how to protect itself and its property against criminal attack.

The Section is under the control of a chief superintendent who has a staff of one superintendent, one inspector, three sergeants and two gardai. Members attached to the Section liaise with statutory and voluntary bodies and represent the Force on various committees that are charged with responsibility for examining certain types of crime and with devising preventive strategies. In addition, they address meetings of community groups on different aspects of police work. The Neighbourhood Watch concept is being examined by staff at the Section and it is intended to extend its implementation to all parts of the country. This Scheme involves community participation in the maintenance of law and order with particular emphasis on the immediate area in which one lives.

The organisation and operation of the Scheme in a neighbourhood is the responsibility of its residents in cooperation with local Gardai. The object of the exercise is to prevent residential crime, particularly that of burglary and to alter the concentration on detection to that of prevention. There are heartening signs that the public are recognising that Neighbourhood Watch is a meaningful way in which the community can assist in preventing criminal activity. During 1984, the section has been examining the way in which police services are delivered to the public. Two experimental projects in suburban areas of the Dublin Metropolitan Area are underway with the consequences that the Gardai and the community are working in a close coordinated approach to the problems of the areas. This programme incorporates the principles underlying Neighbourhood Watch, an enlightened understanding of the Garda role and the importance of good Garda/Community liaison.

MISUSE OF DRUGS

During 1984 a total of 1,369 persons were charged with offences unde the Misuse of Drugs Act 1977/1984. This compares with 1,822 persons charged in 1983.

The total number of seizures of controlled drugs in 1984 was 1,704. This compares with 2,278 in 1983. These figures show very significant reductions of 24.9% in the number of persons charged and 25.2% in the number of drug seizures made during the year.

There are also very noticable decreases in the amounts of all the major drugs of abuse seized in 1984. Heroin show a decrease of 61.9%, Cannabis Resin 97.4% and Cocaine 17.6%.

The drug courses which have been ongoing at Garda Headquartes since 1981 continued throughout the year. At the end of 1984 a total of 1,949 members of the Garda Siochána of all ranks had undergone these courses. This gives an average of 52 Gardai trained in each Garda Division outside the Dublin Area. Over 1,000 Gardai are trained in Dublin.

The continued co-operation of the Customs Service in the fight against drug abuse is appreciated and Customs Officers were responsible for many seizures at points of entry into the State during 1984.

As in previous years the demand for members of the Gardai to give talks and lectures on drug abuse continued to increase. This is obviously due to the greater public awareness of the drug problem. In 1984 a total of 1,135 talks and lectures were given to interested groups and organisations. This figure compares with 1,294 in 1983 and 1,039 in 1982.

SUB-AQUA UNIT

The Garda Sub-Aqua Unit was established in 1966 to carry out searches for:

- (a) Bodies of victims of crime or drowning accidents.
- (b) Weapons used in the commission of crime or other evidence of crime deposited in water.

The Unit carried out 27 search operations during the year in connection with the investigation of crime. Resulting from 25 underwater search operations the Unit recovered 14 bodies.

THE EMERGENCY 999 SERVICE

During the year 165,892 emergency 999 calls were received by the Garda. 135,353 calls at the Communications Centre, Dublin Castle; 20,796 at the Communications Room, Union Quay, Cork City; 1,874 calls at Eglinton St. Station, Galway City; 3,264 calls at the Communications Room, Henry St. Limerick; 2,098 calls at the Communications Room Waterford; 817 calls at the Communications Room, Letterkenny; 1,387 calls at the Communications Room, Portlaoise.

STOLEN MOTOR VEHICLE INVESTIGATION UNIT

This Unit which operates for the whole country is based in Dublin. Close liaison is maintained with similar units in other countries and this co-operation has led to the recovery of many stolen vehicles. 1,375 of these were recorded as stolen. 1,118 of the vehicles recorded as stolen were motor cars, motor vans and lorries, while 257 were motor cycles.

ROAD TRAFFIC

There were 434 fatal traffic accidents during the year resulting in the deaths of 465 people. These figures show a decrease of 70 in the numbers killed and 52 in the number of accidents compared to the figures for the previous year.

PUBLIC RELATIONS AND PRESS OFFICE

The Garda Press Office, during the year under review, was engaged in many activities, from the day-to-day function of assisting the media with check calls to the office, to travelling to scenes of serious crimes which attracted media attention.

The highlight of the year, however, was the visit of President Reagan to Ireland in June with the inevitable influx of journalists and camera crews. To cope with this enormous media interest at both national and international level, personnel from the Garda Press Office were located at Press Centres in Limerick, Galway, Cong and Ballyporeen. We are happy to be able to report that the operation was highly successful.

The staff continued to participate in career guidance exhibitions and to give lectures in second-level colleges on numerous occasions.
